CHICAGO, May 4.-There was quite a change of sentiment in wheat today. The rains of last night refreshed the bears in proportion as it improved the crop pros pects; then, too, cables reported a downward tendency at Liverpool. These influences induced the local crowd to sell wheat at the start but the clearances at New York were reported at 385,000 bushels and they turned buyers later when it was found that clearances should have read 38,000. The bull fever was suddenly checked and trade became quite dull. July opened at 83%c, sold off to 83%c, renoted to 83500/8351c, and again eased back to 83 ic. There were no orders from the outside and a stendy market caused July to sell off steadily until it reached 83c. Towards the close there was a reaction and July rested at 8334c.

The corn market opened with fair activity, and steady prices followed by an advance of Manage for all futures, except For the month, there was a special demand, and eager buying by a few houses and the prices went up quietly from 55c to 58c. The pressure was relieved by liberal sales and the price sold back to 57 c and closed at 57%c. July sold up to 56c early, then back to 55% (0.55) qc, and closed at

The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad company, in obedience to the popular demand, have just placed a train in the service between Wichita and Kansas City which is making ample councetion with the flyers between Kansas City and Chicago, leaving Wichita in the morning at $20 and arriving at Chicago at $15 the following morning—two hours ahead of all other lines—making connection at Chicago with the fast morning trains leaving there for the east, thus enabling passengers to reach many important eastern cities several hours earlier than is possible by any other line. Remember this when you are contemplating an eastern trip. Notice, too, that the night train on this road is the last one to leave Wichita via Kansas City departing at $30 p. m. SOAPS AND TOWELS.

GRAVE RISKS RUN BY GUESTS OF AMERICAN HOTELS.

The Perils of Using Cheap and Pasty Toilet Soaps-Disastrous Effects on the Skin-Disease Germs in the Public

The writer has had a wide experience mong the great establishments of New York, and in only two has found a toilet soar that was really of superior quality. Many proprietors purchase cheap Castile and poor cottonseed oil soap by the hundred bars and cut these into convenient cakes. They cleanse well and generally are free from coarse perfumes and poisonous coloring mat-ter. But nearly all brands of this class are poorly made and strongly alkaline. They not only attack the skin and eventually produce sores, but they also irritate the mou of the pores and eat into the glands and the oil they contain. Their use gives a clean skin, but one that is dry, rough and inelastic. Frequently, after a few days, dried white patches rise and fail off, the lips and nostrils chap and a general feeling of uneasiness and even positive discomfort results. Worse than these are the cheap and pasty toilet soaps so much in vogue. They are made from rancid vegetable oils and half decomposed acid animal fats with impure alkalies, in the shortest time and the cheapest manner possible. To cover up their foulness or poor workmanship, the manufacturer colors them with brilliant dyes or very dark dyes, and with the rankest essential oils the market affords.

A cake taken from a second rate Broadway house is a good case in point. It has a neat oval form, a strong but pleasant odor, lathers freely, and is of a handsome rich brown hue. To any but an expert it would appear a superior article, while to a hotel proprietor it offers, besides all these attractive qualities, the far more fascinating element of extreme cheapness. Careful examination and analysis show that the brown color conceals a slovenly workmanship, which would otherwise be exposed, in irregular masses of varying shade and consistency, and that the strong essential oils serve to smother a rank smell of putrefaction and nauscating raw The amount of the oils is so large as to act as a rubefacient and even an irri

The writer once experimentally rubbed it on his face and allowed the thin saponaceous film to remain ten minutes before washing it off. On its disappearance he found the cuticle covered by numerous red points inter mediate in appearance between acne and eczema, which lasted twenty-four hours before the face resumed its natural appearance Such toilet soap applied to women of fine complexions but of sensitive skins would ruin their appearance in less than a fortnight, and would in the long run produce a condi-tion of the cuticle which would require weeks of medical treatment to restore to its pristine state. Far worse would be its use upon babies and young children. Their skin is finer and more delicate than can be easily described. Irritated by such soaps it would break out into painful eruptions and in a short while thereafter into running sore The evils described apply chiefly to the bedroom and bathroom; those of the public wash room are far worse. Here a larger cake is employed, and almost invariably one whose workmanship is so inferior that with the slightest use it becomes pulpy or sticky. In this condition it does all the harm mentioned, and besides this it may act and frequently does act as a vehicle for disease irus and disease germs.

A person suffering from a skin complaint or from some blood disease, which manifests itself in cutaneous disorders, ulcers or other sores, uses the cake, and by the mere friction of rubbing loosens scales and pieces of dis-eased matter which are retained by the glutenous surface of the scap. These may or may not centain the virus or the germs referred to. If they do the next person who uses the cake runs a serious risk of absorbing the contagion and becoming a sufferer from the same disease. So bad are matters in this regard that the only safe rule for a person solicitous for his health is to never use the soaps supplied by hotels for patrons and guests, but to always carry his own with him or to try a fresh cake, no matter how great the temptation may be to use that

More objectionable yet are the unwieldy roller towel, the saloon towel, and the long and broad towels of the wash room. These grace to the house that uses them and an inmoisture from the face and bands by rub-bing. The friction does more, however, than abrasions, mucus from the nostrils, perspira-tions from the pores, pus from sores and ulcers, and anything liquid that may be ex-creted from the body or may have been thrown upon its surface. The fibrous and interlaced structure of the towel make it a marvelous receptacle and catch all for these varied substances. They remain in its interstices until it is washed, and even long after, unless it is thoroughly boiled and rubbed with strong laundry soap or treated with Ja-velle water or chloride of lime. It is all very well for the first man who applies a towel of the class mentioned to his face and hands; creases arithmetically with each user.—
American Analyst.

A coin that is much sought after by numis-matists was shown to a reporter the other morning. It is not only remarkable for its scarcity, but for its being a relic of the days of '49. The coin is a half eagle and there are very few of them in existence. The market value of the coin is said to be $5. On the face of the coin is the old style American cagle surrounded by the words: "California gold-without alloy." On the reverse side are the words: "Full weight of half eagle." Twenty-two stars line the inner circle of the above words and inside the inner circle at the top are the letters "N. G. and N." Across the diameter of the inner circle is the date "1849." and below this is the name "San Francisco." The edges are not milled. The coin is light yellow in color and resembles a brass check! but is heavier than a half eagle of the preser; day.—New York Evening Sun.
